Idea

Our project is about creating an e-commerce website for LTC (Light for Technology and Computer), a real computer and networking store based in Ramallah. The website will let customers browse and buy products such as laptops, computer parts, and networking equipment online. It will include features like product search, shopping cart, and order management, along with an admin panel to update products and track sales. The main goal of this project is to design a simple, functional website supported by a well-structured database that manages products, customers, and orders efficiently.
